A Note From the President

I want to update everyone about the Lake Levels this year. The City of Flint has raised the North Drum as high as they could this year. Water levels will be lower than normal for the season, so what we have now seems to be what we will have for this year's boating season.

Originally, we were told we just needed rain; the fact is even if we get more rain the North Drum is too low to capture any of the water.

The City of Flint has plans for some maintenance repairs, however, that will probably have to happen after they let the water down in the fall.

Let's enjoy what we do have and stay safe,

HLA Skipper
